

The Log

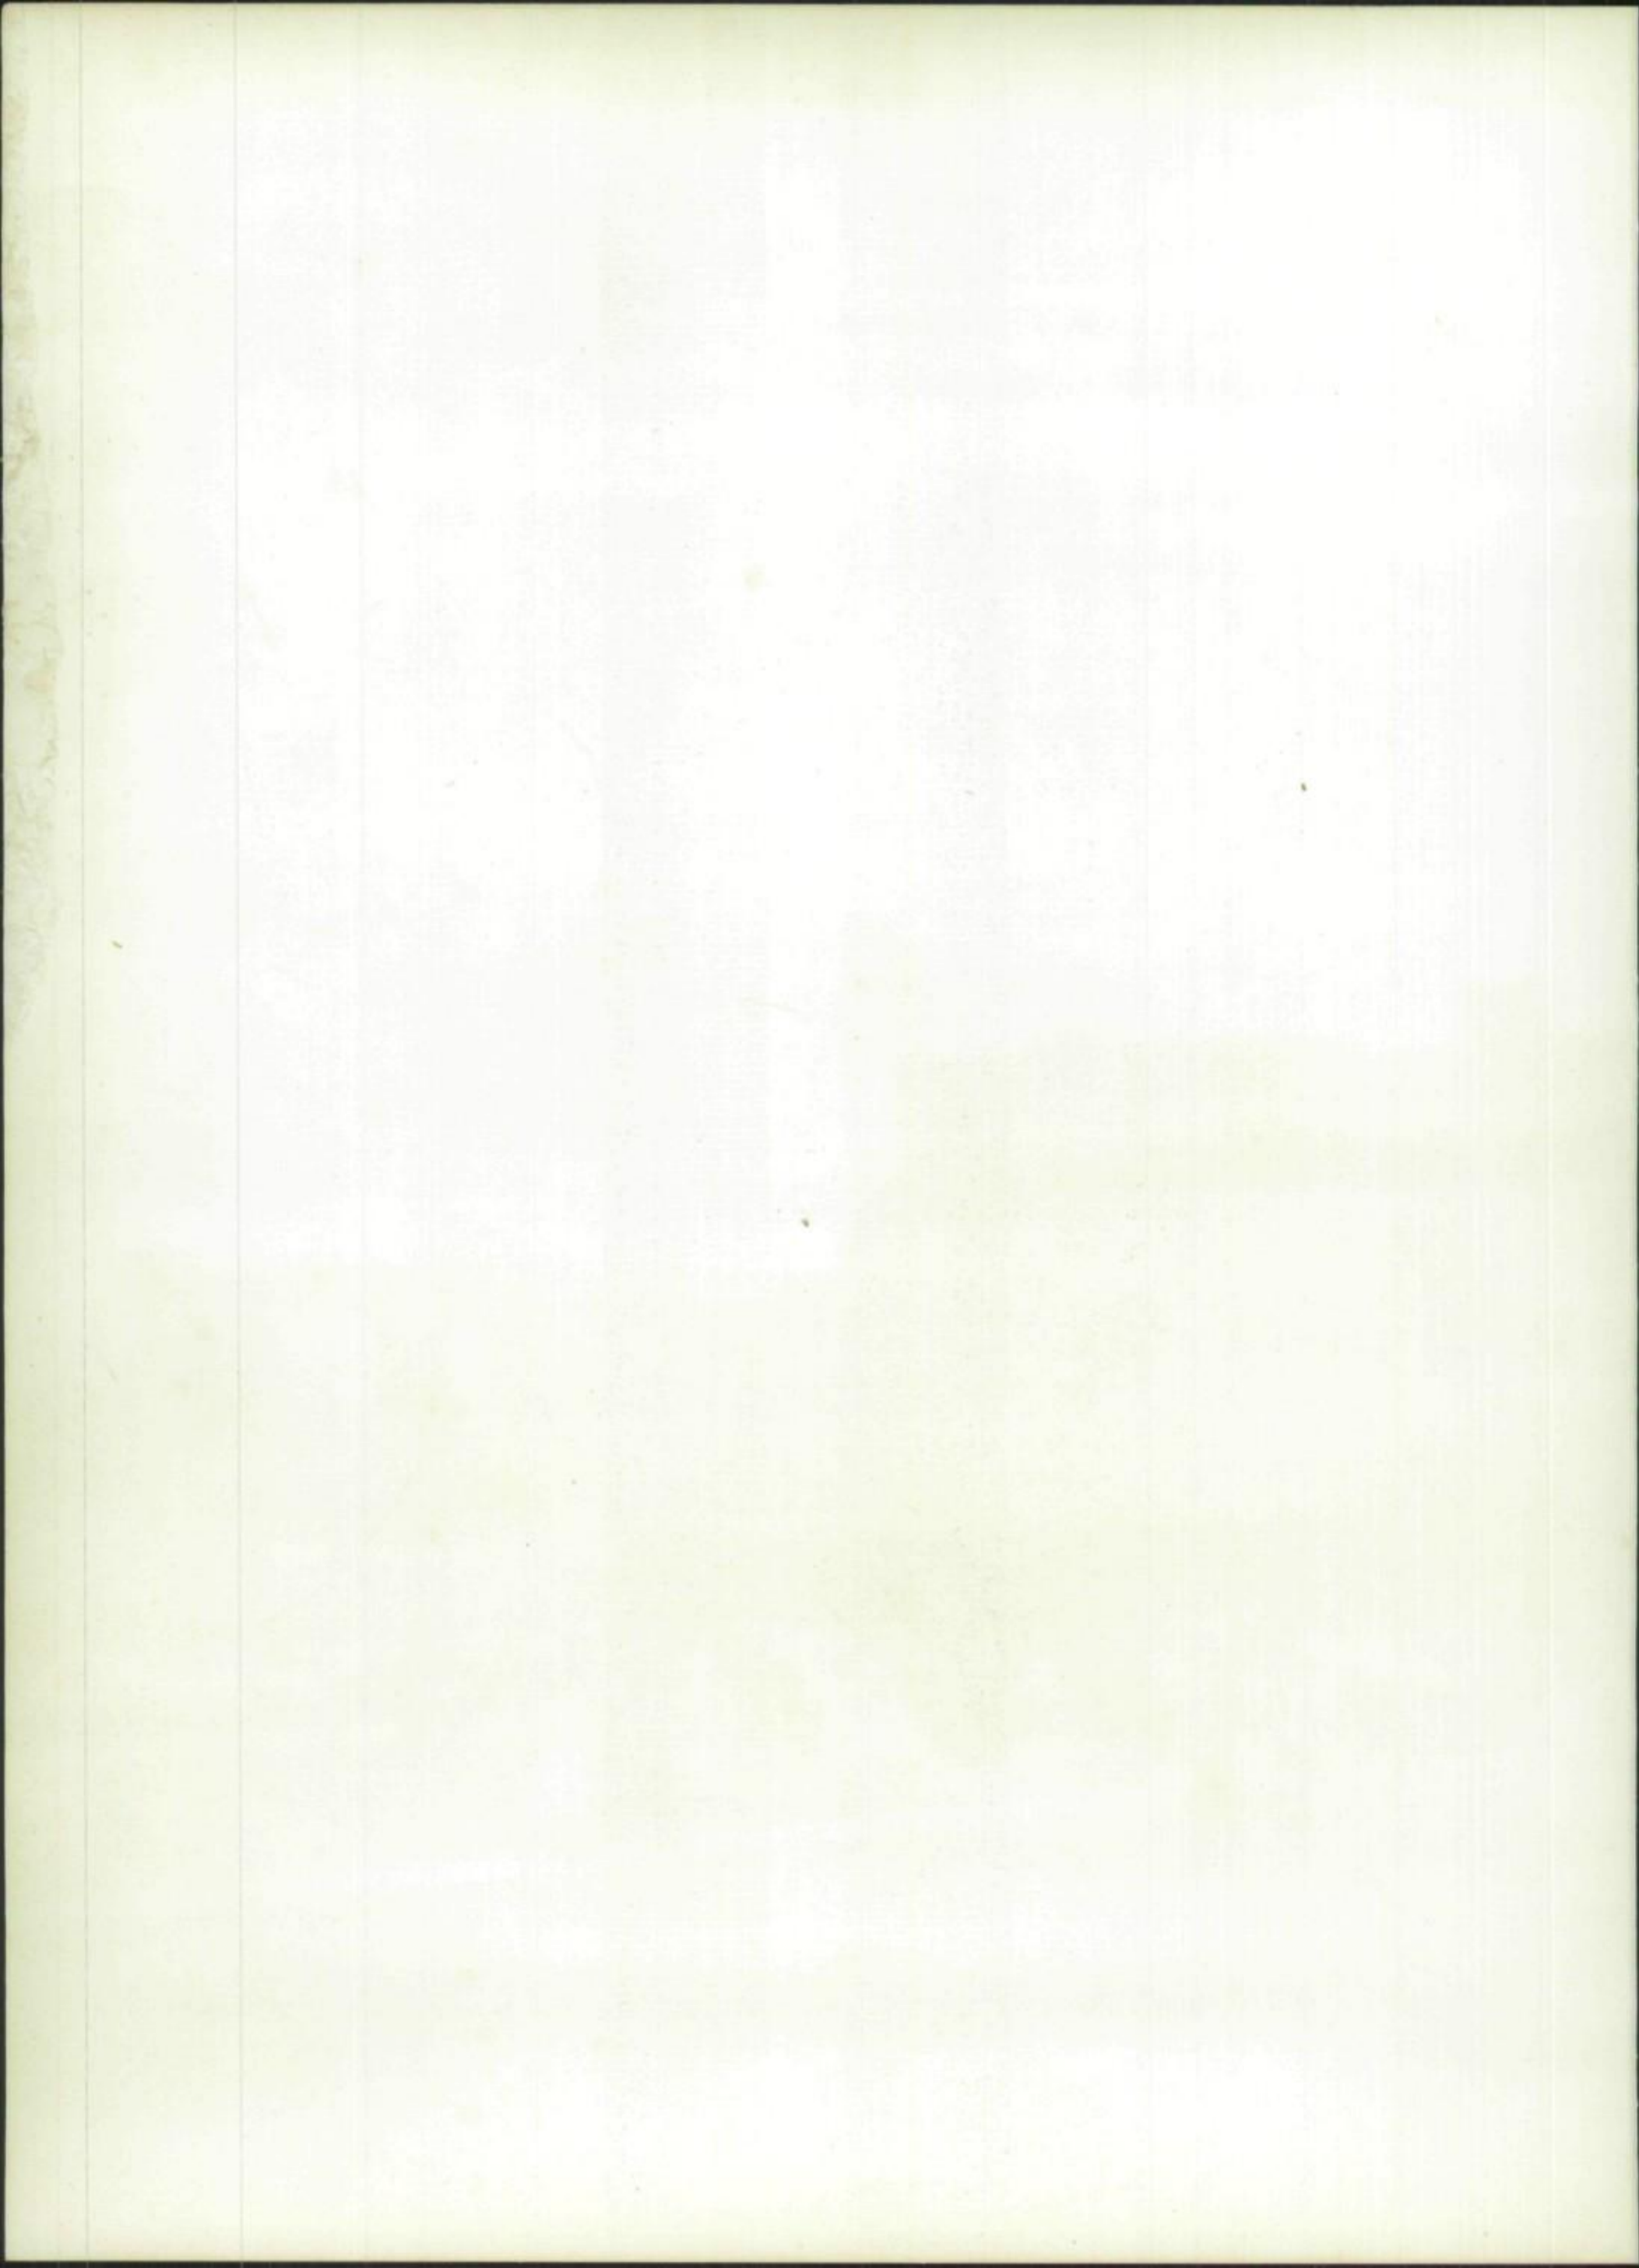

62

WOODBURY SCHOOL

TO LEARN TO DO
TO LIVE

FOREWORD

A sea of thought is our memory
of days at Woodbury High,
Its depth equals the ocean--
from sandy bottom to the sky.
The waters to us were unfamiliar when first we entered in--
We watched the hands of experience with an innocent Freshman grin.
It took us not long to realize that we were a spirited crew.
Successful projects were underway
'ere our Sophomore year was through.
All hands rejoiced
when Juniors we were to be,
Now we offered guidance
to those new upon the sea.
Stormy days of roughness
set Seniors not off course,
We conquered opposing forces
we overcame remorse.
After a short but memorable voyage
our ship must enter dock,
Never again will she set sail
to us her doors will lock.
How wrong t'would be to leave her and our many crewmates behind-- Oh! why not keep them always secure within our mind?
And so this "Log" will help you to remember your days at sea
The classes, the cheers, the crewmates aboard the U.S.S. Woodbury.

In Memoriam

We, the class of '62", solemnly dedicate this yearbook to our former classmate and friend, Roland Proulx.

DEDICATION

Mr. Joseph McDonald

It is an honor and privilege of the senior class of 1962 to dedicate our edition of "The Log," to our class advisor, good friend, and loyal teacher, Mr. Joseph McDonald.

As class-advisor he has aptly supervised the activities for our last two critical, but successful, years in high school.

We are ever indebted and dedicate to you the 1962 year-book with our sincere and lasting thanks.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

I am happy and proud to congratulate the largest senior class in the history of Woodbury High School. With 110 graduates you have made the Veterans' Memorial Auditorium stage obsolete for graduation exercises. Yours will be the first class to go over the 100 mark.

You have had a wonderful four years with your classmates, making lasting friendships and building a foundation for your future either in industry or institutions of higher learning. Strive to be the best in your chosen field. The best is always in demand, it is only the mediocre that have a continual struggle.

You will leave Woodbury in a year of world turmoil and tension, with nuclear tests, orbiting of the earth, and a race to the moon. Our philosophy has been to prepare you to live effectively in a democratic society with a respect for human rights and responsibilities as a good citizen to make your life more abundant and meaningful.

God grant that we will be spared the awful specter of another world conflict, and that you will live out your lives in peace.

FAVORITE TEACHER

MR. EMMETT J. BALLARD

As a tribute to Southern chivalry, charm, and intelligence, the Senior Class of 1962 have chosen Mr. Emmett J. Ballard as our favorite teacher.

In the short period of two years, he has endeared himself to the hearts and minds of all who have had the privilege of being his students. Through his unceasing vigilance and selfless devotion, we have all become able to know and understand the workings of the world and ourselves.

To show our appreciation; we honor him as our favorite teacher.

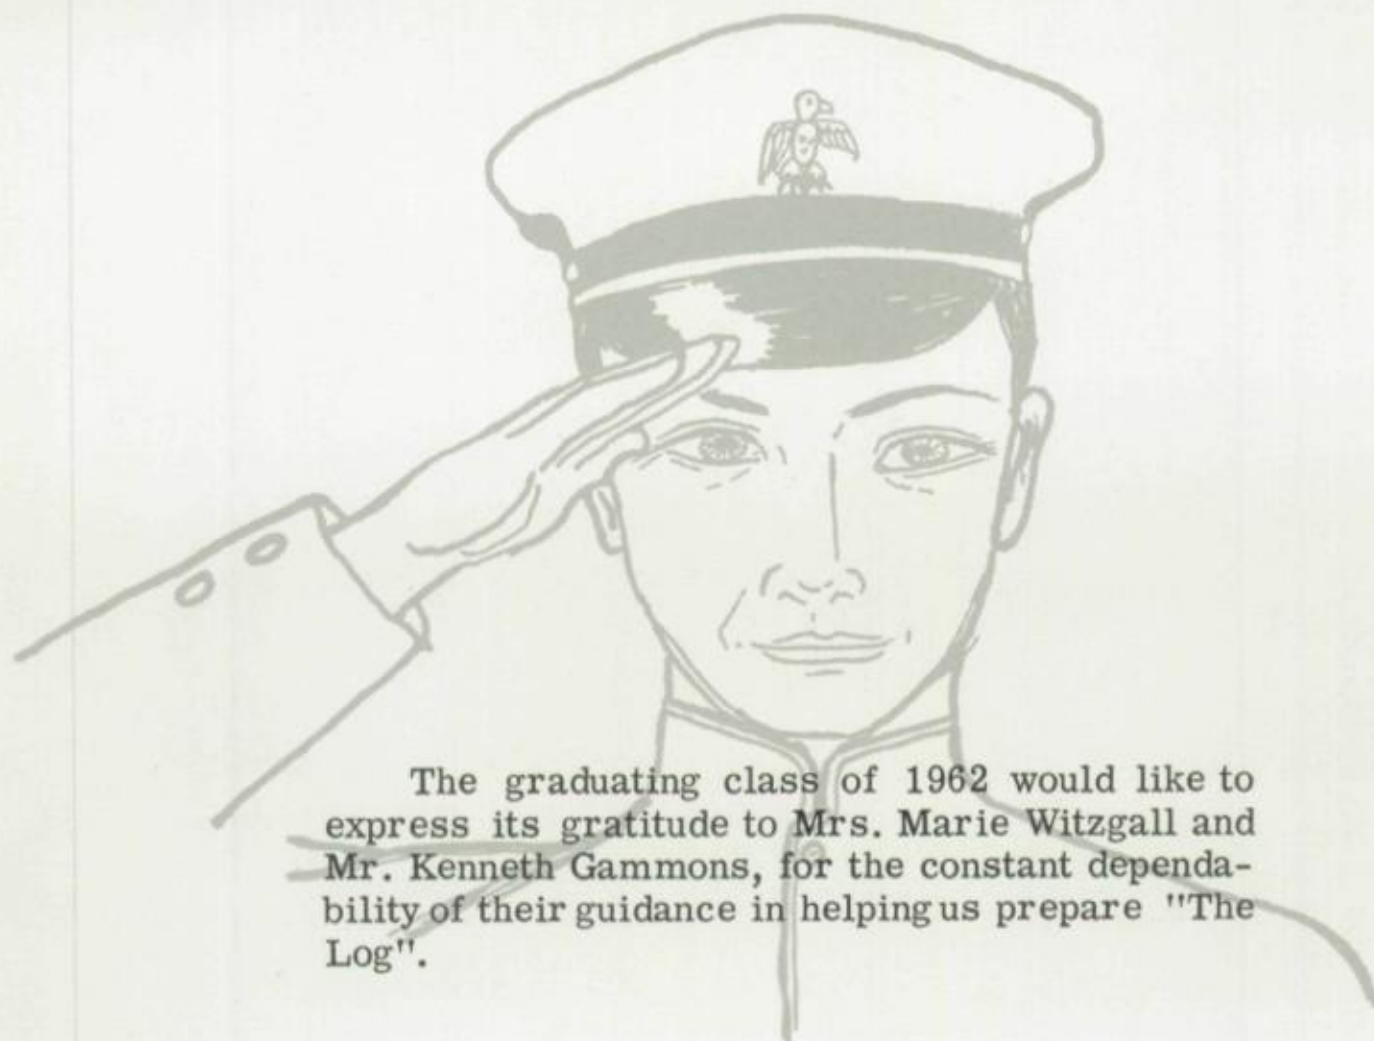

WE SALUTE YOU

Mrs. Witzgall

Mr. Gammons

The graduating class of 1962 would like to express its gratitude to Mrs. Marie Witzgall and Mr. Kenneth Gammons, for the constant dependability of their guidance in helping us prepare "The Log".

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

DEAR FELLOW SENIORS,

I must begin by saying that I am deeply grateful for the honor and privilege of being allowed to address you formally in this our most lasting and truly representative project, the 1962 LOG.

In my comparatively brief stay at Woodbury I have come to know all of you at least reasonably well and I am proud to say that I have never been associated with any group whose individual interests were so widely diversified and yet whose muted concern for the well being of its members blanketed the group so completely. I am proud to have been a member of this, the class of 1962, and I know that each one of you share this sentiment with me.

In the future we will all go our separate ways, be it by choice or chance, and Woodbury High School will be just a fond memory in our conscious minds. But let us all be aware of the fact that this short stay within these walls will always be a guiding influence in our lives.

With sincere thanks,

Thomas Wood

THE CLASS LOG

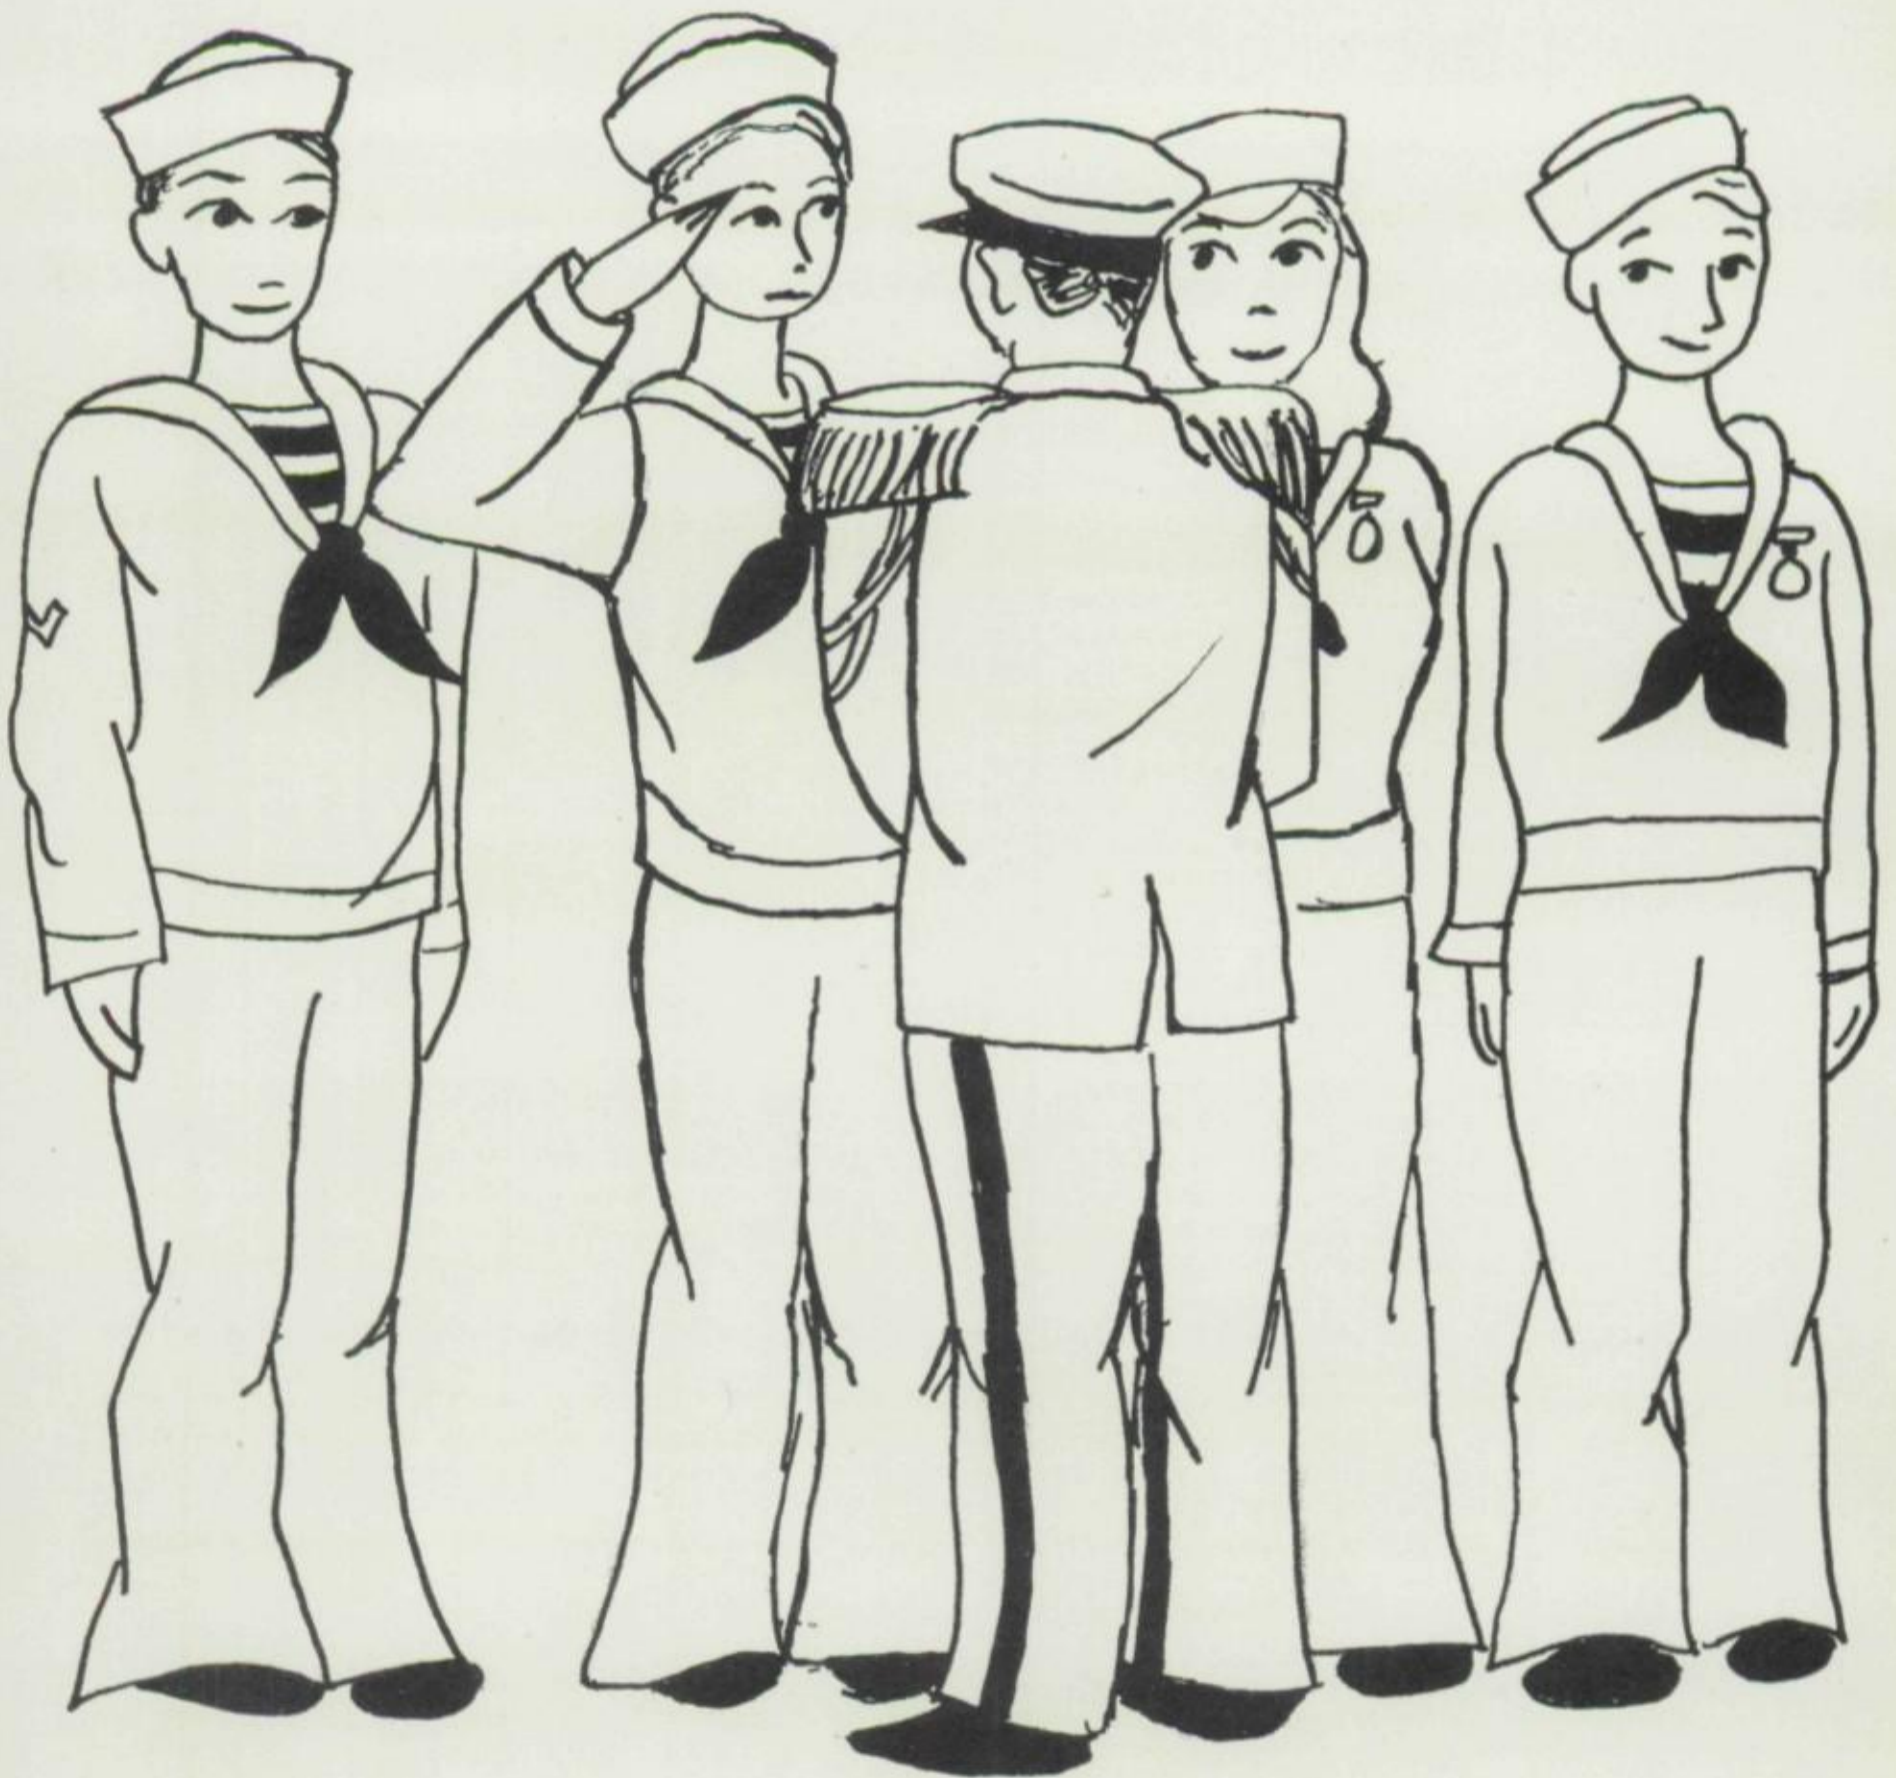

VOLUME I

1958-1962

- 1958 September 6--First day aboard ship. The crew elected as their ship officers;
 Captain: Diane Mason
 1st Mate: Kenny Donabedian
 2nd Mate: Sue Newman
 3rd Mate: Sandy Taylor
 selected the ship's motto "Onward ever; backward never", and selected the ship's colors, blue and gold.
- October 6--Survived the initiation by the Seniors, who selected Priscilla Avallon and Stephen DeNault as Freshman King and Queen the next evening at the Freshman Reception.
- 1959 March 10--Our ship docked at Ireland, just in time to have our "St. Patrick's" dance.
- March 27--Entered Noyes Dramatic Contest with the Play "Four Little Words." Ronnie Messina received Best Actors Award.
- June 3--The crew elected the ship officers for 1959-1960;
 Captain: Diane Mason
 1st Mate: Mike Murray
 2nd Mate: Barbara Bulcroft
 3rd Mate: Sandy Taylor
- June 15--Docked at Boston Harbor: shore leave was given to the members of the crew so that they could enjoy a day ashore.
- September 6--Began the second year of our long voyage.
- November 20--Made a huge success by selling "Dogs and Pens" as our class project.
- 1960 January 17--Docked at France for an "Evening in Paris."
- March 21--Entered the Noyes Dramatic Contest with the play "Elmer and the Love Bug". This year Carolyn Dalpe and Mike Murray received honorable mentions.
- June 5--The crew elected the ship officers for 1960-1961;
 Captain: Mike Murray
 1st Mate: Kenny Donabedian
 2nd Mate: Sue Newman
 3rd Mate: Sandy Taylor
- June 17--Docked at Lake Kingston where the members of the crew enjoyed a picnic for the day.
- September 12--First day of our 3rd year on sea.
- November 17--Held the first of our two dances for this year.
- 1961 February 10--Diane Mason was chosen as Miss Woodbury by the Senior Class of "61".
- March 21--Entered Noyes Dramatic Contest with the play "Case of the Silver-Backed Hairbrush." Carolyn Dalpe received Best Actress Award, and Mike Murray and Howard Boynton received first and second Best Actors Awards consecutively.
- April 21--Docked our ship and went ashore to enjoy the "Spring Carnival."
- April 22--Several members of the crew received shore leave when we docked at New York.
- May 30--Elected ship officers for 1961-1962;
 Captain: Tom Wood
 1st Mate: Diane Mason
 2nd Mate: Barbara Bulcroft
 3rd Mate: Sandy Taylor
- June 9--Selected members to work on project "Yearbook".
- June 13--Nancy Powell and Ricky Moore selected as Class Marshals by Class of "61".
- June 17--Docked at Kingston Lake again this year to enjoy another picnic.
- October 12--The sea was most unsteady when we held our Freshman Initiation.
- October 13--At the Freshman Reception, Nikki Gibbons and Tenny Barron were selected King and Queen.
- November 18--The Senior Play "Who Killed Aunt Caroline?" was hilariously funny; thus adding another feather to our caps.
- 1962 February 10--Two memorable events happened this night: For the first time six candidates were chosen for Miss Woodbury, with Donna MacDougall receiving the title; and another event which brought honor to the entire town was that Lyn Carr was chosen "N.H. Junior Miss".
- March 2--Both the men and women faculty members defeated the Seniors in the Senior Faculty game.
- April 22--Docked at New York and Washington for a week to see the sights.

What ship will we sail after the "S. S. Woodbury," we cannot predict. But, judging from our history, there will always be enough wind in our sails to keep us moving toward our goal.

OUR NAVIGATORS

Without navigators a ship would be unable to keep a straight course. The passengers of the U.S.S. Woodbury wish to set aside this page of "The Log" in acknowledgement of our three navigators.

Our Freshman advisor, Miss Croteau, chartered the course on which the U.S.S. Woodbury was to proceed. Mr. Buckley, our Sophomore advisor, set our ship out to sea. Mr. McDonald, our Junior and Senior advisor, has kept us on the course which will eventually lead us to happy and successful lives.

To these three, the Senior class of '62" extends a warm "thank you".

If the broken coolers could be fixed it would greatly relieve the congestion surrounding the few working ones and would provide a quick refresher between classes.

MESSAGE TO STUDENTS

During the coming school The "Ray" will have a "new Look". Please notice the cover. The emblem has been designed by our art staff and will be used on all future "Ray" covers. It is to be a symbol of "The Ray".

Several new columns have been matter that would be one interest to the students. The letters must be remembered that they do not necessarily represent the thoughts of the staff.

"Guidance News" will help to keep the students informed on

“MUTUEL PARTNERS”

Rockingham Park . . . and . . .

the Town of Salem, N. H.

WAGES: Last year 165 Salem residents collected $248,209 in wages at the Thoroughbred meet. An additional 119 Salem residents collected another $92,557 at the Night Harness meet. $340,766

TAXES: Last year Rockingham Park paid to the Town of Salem $72,100 in property tax. It paid an additional $15,300 in license fees for the Thoroughbred meet, and $22,500 in similar fees for the Night Harness meet. This sum of $109,900 represented approximately 12 per cent of the total town costs. $109,900

PURCHASING POWER: Literally thousands of horsemen and racing fans visit Salem for extended periods during the racing season. They patronize Salem hotels, motels, restaurants, gas stations, shops, etc. No accurate estimate is available of the amount they spend in the town, but it is certainly vital to the economic life of the community.

THE CLASS PROPHECY

The year is 1984! Big Brother is watching the shipmates of the "S. S. Woodbury" through the periscope of the "S. S. Futurine."

As he passes the shore of New York City, he sees Arlene Ahlman and Mary Louise Legare in their offices on the 150th floor of the Empire State Building designing an additional 50 floors to the building. From the window overlooking Greenwich Village, they see Ronnie Brothers and Jill Gibbons exhibiting their latest masterpieces in abstract art.

Heading south, Big Brother spies on Argentina, where he sees Charlie Westerdale and Bob Sweet cat napping on their inherited hacienda.

Now his eye turns eastward on Africa, the newest Peace Corps Post. Lois Martin, Craig Doggart, Barbara Bulcroft and Ruth Blake, under the direction of Diane Mason, head of the modern Peace Corps, have turned darkest Africa into an enlightened and highly developed country.

Further up the coast, a flash of steel speeds across the finish line, the Wendell brothers have won the Grand Prix Race in Morocco at a speed of 1200 mph, in their super racer designed by Al Zannini and built by pitmen, Harry Davies, Mike Bascio, Bob Guadette, and Donald La Course.

As he moves along suddenly the Futurine begins to sway and twist to the music of George Bisson's guitar at Hernandos Twist-a-Way in Spain, which is owned by the multi-millionaire, Ed Poulin.

At France, it seems anybody who is anybody has their hair coiffured at Paula and Paul's ultra-modern beauty salon. Here are gathered the world's most famous hair stylists. Among them are Joan Lawyer, Lorraine Bergeron, Angie Coconis, Marcia Whiting, and Sandy Carson. At the moment, Lorraine is trying out her latest hairdo, the "Flaming Flamingo", on Priscilla Avallon.

Down Periscope! There seems to be somebody else down here at the bottom of the English Channel. It's our former shipmate, Kenny Gould, looking in at Big Brother through his own periscope.

Traveling on to England, he sees at Scotland Yard, Maurice Subilia, Al Tremblay and Dick Fredrickson giving the crooks the business.

Looking across England into Scotland, he sights the big brokerage firm of Wood, Lewis & Czarnecki. Keeping this complex stock exchange running smoothly, he finds Chris Bylander and Pat Harrison in the IBM Department. The Chief IBM technician, Brian Molloy, is seen with a hand full of nuts and bolts repairing penny-pinching Wood's famous stock calculator.

Cruising along by Switzerland, the Alps come into view. Dr. Richard S. Moore has just opened his Chiropractic Clinic at the base of the mountain atop of which is Sue Taylor's Ski Resort. There has been a collision between Bob Brothers and Kenny Morrison on the ski lift. Joy Cicchetti, Dr. Moore's secretary, and nurses, Betsy Stone, Betty Senter, and Brenda Packard are out soliciting new patients. "Looks like they found two this trip!"

At the American Council in Germany, Thora Tallmudge is interpreting records for Al Chadwick who is top diplomat in handling the affairs of the German Frauleins.

Suddenly the lower cabin in the Futurine darkens. There is something overhead. As the Futurine passes through the main waterways in Venice, there is a gondola skimming along the surface. Someone is singing--it's another Woodbury shipmate, Everett Plant. The gondolier, Ronnie Messina, is accompanying him on the saxophone, while crowds of Venetians stand cheering wildly in the streets of Venice.

The peaceful country of Russia is next on the routed chart. At the Kremlin, which has been turned into a dance hall, he finds in the balcony: Billy Kress, Mike Murray and Dale Smith, peering through opera glasses at Linda Langevin and Janet Fiset, who have won the hearts of the Russian people with their modern jazz ballet.

The Taj Mahal looms before the Futurine as it circles the southern tip of India. There Mike Cushing is standing on his head on a bed of nails, reading the inscriptions on the walls of this breath-taking construction.

Swaying rice fields are seen in the distance. The United China Relief Project is going strong with Jean Rosco, Ruth Gagnon, Carol O'Neil and Peggy Thompson caring for the sick and diseased. They can be seen brewing tea from the tiny little tea leaves grown by their rehabilitated patients.

More rice fields are passed. Teaching children in the Manchurian fields are: Clem Clare, Sandy Labo, Shirley Des Roches and Mary Wells.

More rice fields are passed--must be Japan. Here, Norman Martineau runs his school of Karete. His prize student, Al Freeman, seems to be picking up the subject quickly, for he just heaved Norman into the nearest rice paddie.

The "land down under" is coming up fast. A rumbling, thundering sound is heard. Ken Donabedian and Paul Sayer are coaching rival teams for the Annual Kangaroo Football Game. Looks like Coach Donabedian is teaching his players to hurdle the goal post for touchdowns.

A plane whizzes by and Big Brother follows it to New Zealand. The pilot, Sylvio Frederick, makes a beautiful three-point landing. On the ramp, the stewardess, Karen Higgins, checks the passenger list. Included in the list are Eddie Ellis and Steve Denault who have been traveling around the world. Edging down the ramp is a suspicious looking character. A stowaway! Her identity is revealed as Karen recognizes her to be Earlene Rogers, another old shipmate. Arthur Lemieux can be seen rushing out to the runway to check the plane before it takes off again.

Further south, is the Ross Ice Shelf where Jimmy Ross is communicating with Eddie Boehm, who is at his base a few miles away in little America.

Heading back north is found the tropical paradise of Hawaii. On the Island of Oahu, Vicki Artimovich is working on her novel, which she has been working on since graduation. Meanwhile, at the Hawaiian Eye Agency, the secretaries, Robin Rand, Nancy Powell and Sandy Taylor are helping on a new, puzzling case.

From the sultry warmth of Hawaii, the Futurine heads for cooler waters. The Aleutian Islands scattered in the distance are surrounded by three navy luxury liners manned by Captains Kenny Smith, Arnold Bates, and Ronnie Pacheco. As the liners turn sideways, he sees Regina Sylvia and Helen Ryder hanging their weekly wash out of the portholes.

The army is on maneuvers in Alaska, preparing for a cold war. Waiting inside an igloo for orders are Jack Smith, John Fletcher, and Wayne LeMay. Arriving via dog sled is Eileen Garside with orders to move to a warmer climate--Greenland.

Shivering along its way, the Futurine heads back southward. In Canada on a super highway where the speed limit is a mere 600 mph, we see Dave Crowley burning up the road behind him going 900 mph. Left behind in a cloud of dust our mountie, Bob Zannini, is valiantly trying to overcome him with his twenty-horse-team. A mountie always gets his man!

Further down the pacific coast he stops at the 21st Century Fox Studio, now owned by that notorious writer, director, and producer, Judith Fox, whose scripts aren't doing so well. In the midst of a crowd of frustrated fans he sees the star of her great new TV series Dr. Darekill, Howard Boynton. In her dressing room, he finds the leading and only lady of the show, Carolyn Dalpe (she plays the assistant nurse, secretary and patients, when the supply has been exhausted) being fitted by Lana Swarzenberg, who is rapidly designing clothes for the next take where Carolyn must wear a satin sheath nurse's smock.

Just a few miles away in the Yankee Stadium in Los Angeles, playing for the New York Giants, Ricky Simmons is up to bat. Strike one! Strike two! Wait, it looks like he'll slam this one. The ball approaches within two inches of the bat-----we interrupt this telecast to bring you a word from the announcer, Ronnie Simmons, about last month's sponsor.

Leaving Mexico behind, he passes under the Panama Canal where the eye of the periscope becomes muddy.

At Cape Carnival in Cuba, the climax of the trip, he awaits the blast off of the latest ten-stage Venus Rocket designed by Bobby Dufault, and built by Allan Marquette and Chuck Hagopian. June Roy stands by, as the genius who designed this magnificent rocket begins the count down. 10-9-8-Bobby Bennett sits inside the space ship biting his nails-7-4-6-2-3-1? She pushes the button! As the rocket lunges into the outer atmosphere, Bobby can see Brian Mitchell working on his bridge to the moon for commuters who don't have the time to catch a plane. Upon landing on Venus, he descends from his rocket ship to be greeted by Miss Venus, who is none other than Lyn Carr.

After seeing the space ship land safely, Big Brother continues up the Atlantic Coast to Washington, his last stop before reaching home. Since Washington is so closely guarded, the Futurine must be careful not to be mistaken for an enemy agent. Hiding behind a bouy, he spies on the Congressional Library where Cynthia Freeman is now head librarian. She is stacking the shelves with the latest issues of Mad, Week News, and Teen Magazine. In the Department where all the important records are kept he sees Shelly Berman, Johnathan Winters, Jack Parr, and of course Jose Jemenez. Opposite from the Congressional Library can be seen the U. N. which houses Secretaries of State-Janet Mathews, Maureen Farrell and Dolores Sirois. At the new Washington U. N. meetings, the girls take dictation on the knees of diplomats, thus creating good will between all nations. The Futurine makes a fast get-a-way from Washington with espionage agents Joyce Cinquegrana and Arline La Montagne hot on its heels.

Finally back in Salem we see the former Jean Collins, Joyce Freeman and Sue Newman entering the doors of the University of Woodbury with their sixteen children.

Now Big Brother with tears in his eye (or are they tears?) submerges to the bottom of the Atlantic. Down periscope!
